Inspiration and Objective

New technologies are changing the practice of law and the meaning of being a lawyer today. Artificial intelligence and machine learning systems, big data analytics, document builder systems, online legal assistance, blockchain, smart contracts - that is, legal technological innovation - have opened up new legal scenarios and are posing profound theoretical challenges. The intensive course Human Brain-AI-Law (TIL 2021) offers a unique insight into the connections between the activity of the human brain, the models by which AI tools are designed, and how they impact on humans. Will we be replaced or complemented by these technologies? What paths is the current AI regulatory effort taking? How are legal studies reconsidering the way law is conceived and conceptualized?

TIL 2021 aims to provide master's students, doctoral students, young researchers, and early-career professionals with first-hand knowledge of advanced technological tools, as well as an essential overview of the legal implications arising from these technological innovations.

An international faculty and legal professionals teach the program.

Why should I apply for the intensive course?

TIL 2021 offers the opportunity to gain insights on how the legal environment is changing, as well as to explore new possibilities of technological applications to legal professions and in the academia.
